

Vita Health Products Issues Voluntary Recall of Its Ranitidine Products in Canada

WINNIPEG, Canada, October 30, 2019 – As a precautionary measure, today Vita Health Products Inc. (the “Company”) announced a voluntary Type I recall of all the Company’s ranitidine products in Canada. This is due to the low level presence of N-nitrosodimethylamine (NDMA), an environmental contaminant and potential carcinogen found in water and foods, including meats, dairy products, and vegetables.

The bulk active ingredient used in Vita Health’s ranitidine products is sourced from a third party. Upon initial testing of these products, low levels of NDMA were found. As a result, and in consultation with the supplier, Vita Health made the decision to conduct a voluntary recall. Although Vita Health has not received any complaints or adverse events associated with these products, this action is consistent with the Company’s commitment to consumer safety.

In September 2019, The U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Health Canada and European regulators alerted manufacturers that, as a result of third party testing, NDMA had been detected in some generic and brand versions of ranitidine. They requested all manufacturers voluntarily stop shipping and complete further testing on ranitidine products, which Vita Health immediately complied with.
